Everlasting Emily

★ THEY just won't allow pretty Emily Moore (above) to grow up. Though she is 26 she keeps turning up on television as a teenager. And she wishes she could be her age on the box.

This week she stars in GENERAL HOSPITAL (ITV 8.0) as Student Nurse Sylvia Ransome.

"In two episodes last year I played a teenage patient who decides to become a nurse," says Emily. And she has just finished a film for Columbia called "Torquay Summer." Playing a teenager, of course.

CHILLED BY COLD WAR

IT WAS tough going for the stars and film crews who went off to Iceland to shoot a new three-part thriller for BBC.

They had to sleep under canvas in the sparsely-populated northern wastelands during filming of RUNNING BLIND (BBC-1, 9.25).

Stars George Sewell, Stuart Wilson (Vronsky in Anna Karenina) and Vladek Sheybac gritted their teeth.

But one player is happy and at home in the tale about the Cold War.

Book

She is Iceland's leading actress Heida Steinorsdottir, who makes her British TV debut in this series.

The story is based on Desmond Bagley's best-selling book of the same name.

Stuart Wilson plays Alan Stewart, a Scot whose former career in the Secret Service catches up with him when he is asked to come out of retirement for a mission.

Slade (George Sewell), his former operations chief, asks him to deliver a parcel. But then things go wrong.

Among the complications is Vascau Kennikin (Vladek Sheybac), who has a personal motive for revenge against Stewart.

BANANA BOTHER FOR BELAFONTE

★ SINGER Harry Belafonte once said: "There isn't a child over five or an adult under 70 who's a bigger fan of the Muppets than I am."

By the time Kermit and Miss Piggy finished with Harry, the special guest in THE MUPPET SHOW (ITV, 7.0), I bet he wished he hadn't been quite so rash in his praise.

For the first time he sings his famous Banana Boat song on television.

Fozzie is determined that the song's first showing should be a special occasion and arranges a chorus of pigs and a supply of bananas.

But disaster strikes when the bananas go berserk!

TELLY TEASER

WHICH Gilbert and Sullivan opera starred Tommy Steele? Answer tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER: Benny Hill.

At just £318 return, Australia's never been this close before.

If you've got friends or loved ones in Australia, make a note of February 1.

Because on this date the world becomes a smaller place with the introduction of our new down-under Poundstretchers.

These mean you can fly from London to Perth from only £318* return or to Sydney, Melbourne or Brisbane from only £334* return. (That's a saving of well over £100 on each of the current lowest fares.)

Normally you would have to book these fares 45 days in advance. But, as a special introductory offer, you need book only 21 days in advance for February and 30 days in advance for March.

You can book them right now at your Travel Agent or British Airways shop, or by phoning British Airways Reservations.

Fly the flag to Australia and you'll travel on normal scheduled flights with caring British Airways service every moment of the way, there and back.

If you'd like a little extra help with your arrangements, join our Australian Family Reunion Club. Simply phone Pam Miller on 01-491 4689 in office hours.

It'll help bring you closer to your family and friends on the other side of the world. Just like our new low fares.

*Fares are exclusive to British Airways and Qantas and vary according to dates of travel.
